

Please do not allow Consumer Bankers Association to convince you to weaken Indiana's telephone privacy law. If I wanted to accept solicitation calls from banks or other companies I do business with, they already have paper work that allows me to agree to such calls. I signed on to the telephone registry to get rid of these annoying calls. I really don't understand why they want to waste their time calling people like me that are just going to become extremely upset at such calls and take it out on their workers who happen to pull my name. Thank you for your consideration.
